

Miraude Adriaensen, MD, PhD, MSc, EDiMSK based in Heerlen is a consultant radiologist at the department of medical imaging, Zuyderland Medical Center, the Netherlands, since 2009. After receiving her MSc in Health Services Research and her master's degree in medicine with best grades both in the summer of 2000, Miraude spent a year as research fellow at MGH (Massachusetts General Hospital) in Boston, USA, and was appointed as a member of the professional staff of MGH and as a Harvard Officer at Harvard University. Upon receiving her MD degree with best grades at the Erasmus University Rotterdam, the Netherlands, in 2003, she started her residency in radiology at the University Medical Center Utrecht, the Netherlands, in February 2004. From January 2007 onwards, she was trained at the Meander Medical Center in Amersfoort, the Netherlands. In 2008, she registered as a radiologist and she was the first Dutch resident in radiology to receive one of the visiting scholarships offered by the European School of Radiology. In 2010, she received the diploma of the European Society of Musculoskeletal Radiology. In 2011, she completed her PhD thesis at the University of Utrecht, the Netherlands. Since 2012, she is registered as epidemiologist (highest level) at the SMBWO (Foundation for Biomedical Scientific Research Training), the Netherlands, and she became the chief educator in musculoskeletal radiology at Zuyderland Medical Center (2012-2017).

In 2008, Dr. Adriaensen became a member of the ESSR and attended her first ESSR Annual Meeting. She has participated in every ESSR Annual meeting since as researcher, as moderator, as faculty member, as examiner and even as quiz panellist. Dr. Adriaensen was a member of the local organizing committee and a member of the scientific committee of ESSR 2018. She was invited to join the ESSR Educational Committee since 2011. Currently, Dr. Adriaensen is the chair of the ESSR Educational Committee (2018-2021). She is one of the co-directors of the ESSR webinar programme since 2018. And she is the current ESSR Educational Committee delegate representing the ESSR (2020-2022).

Furthermore, Dr. Adriaensen was a member of the ESSR Leadership Institute (2014-2017). She is a member of the Standards Committee of the European Board of Radiology since 2015. She was a member of the European Training and Assessment Programme working group and scientific committee (2017-2019). She is a member of the Policy Committee of the Accreditation Council of Imaging (2019-2022).

In addition, Dr. Adriaensen is one of the founding members of the editorial advisory board of Aunt Minnie Europe. She is a member of the Harvard Club of the Netherlands, of the Netherlands Fulbright Alumni Association, of the ESOR alumni club, and of the International Skeletal Society.

Personal statement: In the Netherlands, musculoskeletal radiology is a recognized subspecialty. The Dutch MSK Society, a section within the Dutch Radiological Society, was established in 2007. And currently has around 650 members. I am honoured that the Dutch MSK Society is supporting my candidacy as ESSR Councillor 2021-2023. I am also very grateful for the opportunities the ESSR, the ESSR-members and the ESSR-office offered me. I am applying as an ESSR councillor in order to continue to contribute to this great organisation from another position on a broader range of topics from a Dutch and European perspective. In my opinion sharing information, clear communication, collaboration and involving as many members as possible is the best way for ESSR to flourish even more. I hope as a councillor I will be an addition to the Executive Committee by bringing in my experience and connections.
